THE CLASS of 1936

We seniors have come to anchor after a four year cruise in pursuit of Knowledge. Our pilots have been kind and wise, helping us to hold our course steady and true.

Now we become our own captains, and though the course we chart is greatly dependent upon ourselves, we shall doubtless find the voyage much smoother because of our extensive opportunities to become better seamen. Before us lies the greatest sea, Life,—and though we may approach it tremulously, our ambition and courage will remain steadfast.

The library guild is the most active, efficient and necessary club in the school. A guilder always has work to do. From the first day of school in September to the last day in June the guilder is on the job. To be eligible for membership he must be honest, alert, and trustworthy. Any person who fills these requirements is welcome to join. He also must be willing to give up three periods of his time every week.

For recreation each year the library guild goes on a trip to a desired place of interest. We also have one holiday party during the year. Although joining the guild means working, the work is a pleasure.

CROSS COUNTRY

The first call for the Cross Country Team brought out no less than thirty candidates, mostly freshmen and sophomores. Under the coaching of Mr. Levin, our new physical education teacher, the team is starting their first season of competition and have high hopes of capturing a few dual meets. Recently in the state meet, Anthony Bialochick, in a field of about two hundred competitors, placed seventeenth and the team finished eleventh.

At the first initial meeting, Henry Nathan was elected manager and Anthony Bialochick, captain. Together both have made up a schedule which will promise much competition. So far this season they have met with two defeats, losing to Weequahic and Kearny and having yet to encounter West Side, Union and South Side.

Some of those who will aspire to fill varsity berths are Frank Darcy, William Pearce, William Kenny, Ted Manos, William Theopholis, Eugene Robson, Russell Hoffman, William Lovett, Louis Geracos, and Theodore Guerin.

SWIMMING TEAM

The Arts High Swimming Team is one of the oldest teams in this school. The members have worked hard in every respect to make the team a success.

Last year the team won six meets out of thirteen and tied in one. This year the Arts High Swimming Team is a contender for the city title.

Under the coaching of Mr. Criswell, the team got off to a flying start, reporting for practise the first week of school and showing some rare form.

This year's varsity consists of, Joe Todres, captain, Sheldon Lustig, city champion back stroke, Sam Hymowitz, Ben Lipshutz, Sidney Somolsky, Walter Greeley, Ralph Guthreau, Albert Green, and Sam Faigen.

The swimming team manager, David Dunsy, has booked the following high schools for dual meets: East Side, Central, West Side, South Side, Bloomfield, Belleville, Montclair, and Columbia.

THE LOG OF THE JAN '36

- 1932
FEBRUARY — Deck C. Cabin 219
—It is all due to our childish curiosity that we board the good ship, JAN '36 at Art High Dock. Had two holidays. Our Presidents considered us when they were born.
- MARCH —A storm—of books—arose. Haunted by myths, we've come to think that Neptune brought on seasickness.—but no, it is those artistic F's.
- JUNE —A storm is brewing—our exams—never did think they were necessary. It doesn't matter: our vacation is due.
- JULY — AUGUST—Latitude: Home—. Longitude: Vacation.
Anchored and landed for a two month's shore leave.
Deck C. Cabin 219
- SEPTEMBER —Anchors aweigh!—Educated Freshman now.
- NOVEMBER —Martin Davis holds an envied position as Mayor.
- DECEMBER —Speakers frequented our auditorium. Encores were necessary to omit a period.
- 1933
JANUARY —Resolved to receive all A's this year.
Bought a year book. Don't know anybody in it.
Deck C. Cabin 219
- FEBRUARY —Passed with difficulty. A Sophomore now.
- APRIL —Dance tickets were sold. Had sales resistance, but no school spirit.
- JUNE —A relief!
- JULY — AUGUST—Anchored.
Deck B. Cabin 315
- SEPTEMBER —Ah, the Freshies.
"French class, son? Sure. Just turn left at the end of the corridor and take the elevator to the fifth floor."
- NOVEMBER —The "Scope's" first edition issued. The Crystal Gazer didn't gaze, but bored.
- 1934
JANUARY —Another new year—how time flies.
Deck B. Cabin 315
- FEBRUARY —Learned how to keep from doing homework.
- APRIL —Showers. Maybe I ought to stay home.
- JUNE —Hooked with another year book.
- JULY — AUGUST—Anchored.
Deck B. Cabin 315
- SEPTEMBER —Sale of G. O. tickets. A colossal bargain. Dances, shows, and other entertainments free.
- OCTOBER —Mayor Walter Glenn manned the wheel.
- DECEMBER —A certain Santa Claus presented us with a long awaited vacation.
- 1935
JANUARY —Just a year more to graduation.
Deck B. Cabin 315
- FEBRUARY —SENIORS at last.
- MAY —We organize, but for disciplinary reasons the organization did not remain in existence. No officers elected.
- JUNE —Hurray!
- JULY — AUGUST—Anchored.
Deck A. Cabin 113
- SEPTEMBER —We sight land and our voyage is near an end. The class reorganized and prepared for nominations. Election of New Mayor—Peter Testa.
- OCTOBER —4A Officers—Ernest Teora, president; Arthur Wotjowicz, vice-president; Ethel Radler, secretary; Thomas Shirley, treasurer.
- NOVEMBER —Class is considerably small and we have fears that we wouldn't meet our obligations in issuing the year book. Watch those ads come in!
- 1936
DECEMBER —A senior dance, Doughnuts and cider for a mug-up!
- JANUARY —Finals !!! — Not much weeping.
Class Day—better than ever.
Commencement: A good looking class though small. But "valuable things come in small packages."
For'ard Below! Ready to cast off? Let 'er slip! And the JAN '36 leaves the Art High Dock, never to return.

AS FAR AS THE EYE CAN SEA

We, the remaining survivors, of the "Good Ship JAN '36", having been cast away and marooned on the Island Alumni (Lat. 1° 28" — Long. 19° 36") do hereby declare this to be our last Will and Testament.

The following is an official list of the shipwrecked officers and crew.

I, Ernest Teora, Captain, donate my muscles to Eugene Scher.
I, Arthur Wojtowicz, First Mate, radio my mathematical ability to Olga Stickles.
I, Ethel Radler, Second Mate, will my report cards to Anthony Bialochick.
I, Tom Shirley, Third Mate, leave my line to Edythe Goehring.
I, Jack Phillips, Steward, send my modesty to a nudist colony.
I, Ruth Shipper, Stewardess, transmit my pull with Mister Levin to Lila Simpson.
I, Gus Albanese, Sailor, the voice in the galley, do throw my voice to David Dunsky.
I, Ben Lipshutz, Sailor, commit my combination to Davy Jones' locker.
Myself, Dorothy Shapiro, Wireless Operator, hand down my unfinished pink sweater to Mrs. Cross.
I, Sol Kaplan, Stoker, furnish Irwin Temeles with my masculinity.
I, Leroy Denard, Stoker, grant my undivided attention to Mrs. Fulop.
FLASH—Man Overboard !!! Miss Vitello, our ship's skipper, is seen through the telescope, earnestly swimming for the shoreline—. So that's how we impressed her !!!

Lucille Martin gives her Southern accent to Gary Gotsfeld.
Mary McRae garnishes Frances Dlugash with her cleverness.
Olive Moffat imparts her eye-make-up to Faye Ehrman.
Fred Nehls sends his gesture conversation to a Jewish peddler.
Vaso Poulakos transfers his dancing ability to Fred Astaire.
Florence Romano resigns her affection for Speros Parthymos to Lena Kugel.
Rosylyn Schless commits her leaky fountain pen to all teachers entering marks.
Benjamin Schulman bestows his filibustering to Max Kutcher.

DAVY JONES SPEAKS

Now that the members of the JAN '36 have been consigned to Davy Jones' Locker, perhaps their fate can best be learned from Davy himself.

"Ahoj landlubbers, this is Davy speaking. I can tell you all you want to know about the passengers of the JAN '36. Let's see what's happening in June 1955.

"The S.S. JAN '36 is lying in a cosy nook, surrounded by entrancing sirens and mermaids. They proved too overpowering for Tom Shirley and Martin Davis so they have taken permanent jobs at deck-scrubbing in my employ. First Mate Benjamin Lipshutz pockets his inevitable mirror and gives necessary seaman's orders.

"Hours later. The passengers are coming aboard. Captain Ernest Teora comes on deck in search of his wife, Della Cecere, who he finds bidding goodbye to the gigolo, Gus Albanese. Hannah Zemel has let her enthusiasm as a style creator run away with her for she is now designing bathing suits for mermaids. Elsie Zahler, known in the subterranean Hollywood as 'Dream's Delight', kisses the bald head of her husband, Fred Nehls, who though known in business as the 'wolf of Wall Street', is really a sheep in private life. The poor fish! Bessie Dillard, biology teacher, bids a final farewell, to her husband. Alvin Burks, president of Neptune University, who is traveling abroad with Mary McRae, a teacher in his college. Bessie has forgotten that when the catfish is away, the sardines will play.

"Anchors aweigh! Landlubber Sam Veltri, boxing manager, who is on his way to arrange a fight between Mack Erel and Hal Ibut, proves he 'can't take it' by becoming ill. Someone runs for Doctor James Hegen while Nurse Mary Babriecki soothes Sam's fevered brow. Nurse Lucille Martin is caring for other fishes.

"Smooth sailing. The sun beats down on the passengers reclining in their deck chairs. Ruth Schipper, sculptor, is reading a newspaper edited by Louise Berry. This paper contains articles by Harry Kreidler, the noted dramatist, poems by Roslyn Schless and music editorials by Carlita Von Berghen. Harry predicts a successful run for Sophie Shalit's play in which Dorothy Shapiro has the leading role. Morton Shapiro is dictating notes to his secretary, Angelina Bucca. Morton is trying to out-do Mr. Muzzey. On another part of the deck, Angelo Castellano is relating some exciting experiences about his big game hunting to Anthony Zoppi, distinguished lawyer. Bruno Franceschini, special reporter for the 'Davy Jones' News', electrifies them with the headline that Joe Todres has won the international swimming title. Joe had been in competition with many sharks.

"In her cabin, Ethel Radler sets aside her material for a new novel to go to the art room and view the paintings of Helen Kaczynkas and Theresa Williams.

"Olive Moffat, sea-going dietitian, hurries to the ship's beauty parlor to have her hair arranged for the evening by Antoinette Cataldo. Ocie Graham and Sol Kaplan are conversing quietly (?) about the Olympic games in which they have participated. They burst into laughter at sight of Jack Phillips, an absent-minded professor, strolling about the deck in the radiant sunshine wearing a raincoat and carrying a raised umbrella.

"After lunch there is a fashion show in which Ethel Simon models for the firm of Benjamin Schulman and Company. Ethel has the sea nymphs envying her. During intervals, Helen Womack sings sweeter than any siren ever did.

"Blow me down if there isn't a plane soaring over us. It's coming to a happy landing. Well, bless me, me hearty, it's Florence Romano and Arthur Wojtowicz, co-pilots.

"Dinner is an unusual success for the diners are thrilled by Arthur Drastal telling of his exciting adventures of the seven seas. In his fight with an octopus, Arthur gained good experience in escaping the clutches of pursuing maidens.

"Following dinner, the passengers dance to the songs of Franklin Landolfi played by Barnacle Vaso Poulakos and his Shipwreck Orchestra. The chief feature of the evening is the spectacular dancing of Leroy Denard.

"As unnoticed as a canned tuna midst a school of whales has been Vernell White, Walteress Winchelless, as she went about snooping and gathering news.

"Well, me lads and lassies, my tale is finished. This is Davy Jones bidding you Bon Voyage, Auf Weidersehen, Aloha oe, Adois, Cheerio and So Long."

We, the shipmates of the "JAN '36", leave behind our sincere gratitude and appreciation to Mr. Harrison E. Webb, and the faculty for making our stay in Port Arts High a very pleasant one.

In case any of the above members of the "JAN '36" are seen loitering within the walls of port, let it be understood that "all rats leave a sinking ship".

We hear a dismal chug and a troublesome clatter coming our way—a boat!—at last! But wait,—shall we hail it? No-o-o-o-o! "Hush", cries our Captain, and we bury our heads in the sand like ostriches,—for 'tis the old wreck "Unemployment" on its last trip!

S-O-S S-O-S S-O-S.

Will anyone hearing our distress signals kindly notify the ship's executor, Miss Naomi Brooker, in order to make our wishes known and ambitions gratified.

Thar they blow! Ship Ahoy! Ship Ahoy! Ahoy! Two ships are seen coming to our rescue. The "S.S. Position" and the "Further Education".

On board, now! Full speed ahead !!!

Witnessed and affirmed by:

ROSLYN SCHLESS, Ship's Legal Adviser.
 DOT DOT DASH SHAPIRO, Wireless Operator.
